The Ohio Alumnus

October, 1942

Seven Gold Stars Mounted on University Service Flag Since Last Spring's Report

HANGING on the wall of the Alumni Office is a gold-corded, gold-fringed service flag, or banner, on which are mounted gold stars only. Under each star there is embroidered in blue script letters the name of the Ohio University man for whom the star stands as a memorial. There are now fourteen such stars.

First Lieut. Kenneth W. Butler

Seven of the casualties which have occurred in the ranks of Ohioans were reported in The Ohio Alumnus last spring. These misfortunes brought death to Lieut. John P. Robbins, '41x, Jackson; Lieut. Robert D. Clark, '41x, Cleveland; Lieut. Raymond Oliver, '38, Byesville; Lieut. Carl E. Danner, Jr., '40, Marion; Ensign Charles K. Potter, '42x, Calverton, N. Y.; Lieut. John P. Burns, '41x, Akron; and Lieut. Byron Exelby, '40, Cleveland. All of these men were members of the Army Air Force with the exception of Ensign Potter.

Since the appearance of the June Alumnus the reports of seven other deaths have been received.

Aviation Cadet Alfred J. Jones, '42x, Sharon, Pa., was killed instantly, May 27, 1942, in the crash of a Navy airplane at the Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla. Cadet Jones, who had completed three years at Ohio University, was within a few weeks of the receipt of his commission as a flying officer.

First Lieut. Kenneth W. Butler, '41x, Lenox, Iowa, was reported by the War Department to have been shot down over the Mediterranean Sea in the African Middle Eastern Theater, July 9, 1942, while piloting a B-24 "Liberator" bomber. Fellow fliers were reported to have seen his blazing plane sink, and while the official report is "missing in action," it is assumed that the entire bomber crew was lost. The deceased was a nephew of Lieut. Ernest E. Ray, '24, on leave from his position as professor of accounting at Ohio University and now in Army Air Corps Administration at Maxwell Field, Ala.

An account of the probable death of Col. Frank B. Goettge, 20x, U. S. Marine Corps, Kent, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Pvt. John Sloan Davis, '29x, Jackson, died Sept. 2, 1942, at Camp Stonan, Calif., where he was engaged in the Army's public relations program. No details of his death have been received by the Alumni Office. He is credited with three years of work at Ohio University.

The report of the death of Sgt. Wayne A. Thomas, '36, R.F.D. 1, Jerusalem, Ohio, was likewise lacking in details. Word received from his mother stated merely that he was drowned at Herald Harbor, Md., July 19, 1942. At the time of his death he was a sergeant in the Army Medical Corps, assigned to the 59th General Hospital at Fort Meade, Md. Sergeant Thomas was a brother of Louis W. Thomas, '39, M.S. '40, an instructor in the high school at Barnesville.

The name of a third Cleveland—others: Lts. Clark and Exelby—was placed upon the Gold Star Roster when on October 9, 1942, the Navy reported the death "in action" of Ensign Stephen J. Czarniecki, '40, somewhere in the Pacific war area. Ensign Czarniecki was a dive bomber pilot. He had participated in the Navy's Coral Sea and Midway engagements and, presumably, was in the Solomon Islands area when death came to him. The communication from the Navy Department stated that the flier's body had been temporarily buried for the duration of the war.

On the morning of Oct. 17, 1942, a four-motored Army bomber enroute from Rapid City, S. Dak., to an unannounced destination, crashed on a mountain peak near Des Moines, N. Mex., carrying to their deaths eleven Army Air Force officers and men. Among them was First Lieut. Lawrence W. Hunter, '40x, New Marshfield, a bombardier.

Second Lieut. Mildred H. Van Horn

Still officially "missing in action" after a period of several months are Lieut. Ralph R. Penick, '39, Hebron; Lieut. William T. Johnston, '39, Cleveland; Ensign Lloyd Thomas, '35, Circle Hill; and Sgt. James Wylie, '37, Middleport. There is hope that Penick, of the Marines, Johnston, an Army flier, and Wylie, of the Army, may still be alive, prisoners of the Japs in the Philippines. Thomas, a Navy bomber pilot, was reported missing shortly after the Midway engagement.

News of a happier nature concerning Ohioans in the military and naval service, follows:

Mildred H. Van Horn, '37x, Cleveland, graduated from the first training school at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, for officers in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, and has remained at Fort Des Moines to assist in the training of other W.A.A.C. officers.

Lieut. Robert D. Johnston, '42x, brother of the missing Cleveland flier, received his commission in the Field Artillery Air Corps at Fort Sill, Okla., in August, and is now on maneuvers in another section of the country as a pilot in the Field Artillery Air Observation Force. The air-borne artillery units are new in the Army organization.

Ensign Henderson L. Adams, '37, left a teaching position at Stevens Academy, Hoboken, N. J., to accept his Navy commission. Since joining Uncle Sam's forces he has studied communications at Darien, Conn., and is now located in New York City where he is an instructor in a midshipman's school. Mrs. Adams (Gladys Mitchell, '39), who was formerly in the foreign department of New York City's largest private banking institution, is now secretary to Dr. E. M. Hunt, head of the history department, Teachers' College, Columbia University. The Adamases have an apartment at 530 Riverside Drive, New York.

Capt. Tony J. Race

Captain Tony J. Race, '35, is engaged in Army intelligence activities in the Office of the Quartermaster General in Washington. After leaving the campus, he was an auditor in the U. S. Dept. of Commerce. His auditing duties permitted the study of law and two years ago he received a degree from the law school of George Washington University.

Second Lieut. Frank M. Tedrick, '40, husband of Paula Danner, '40, of the Army Signal Corps, is a member of the electronics training group in the British War College in England.

Colonel Miles J. Lowther, '32, has been seeing service with the Royal Air Force for almost three years. He is now a member of the expeditionary forces in northern Africa where he is engaged in desert fighting.

When the public relations staff at Gulfport Field, Gulfport, Miss., the Army's newest Air Force Technical Training School, was ordered reduced from eight members to two, Sgt. Robert L. Wertman, '41, who is itching to get into actual flying activities, was retained. He is now editing the camp newspaper, "A.M." Besides his editorial duties, he prepares hundreds of releases about officers and enlisted men for their home town papers.

Pvt. Samuel J. Johnes, '32, who was a trumpeter with Sammy Kaye from the time the latter organized his now famous band at Ohio University in 1929, until 1936, is a member of an Army Air Force unit at Keesler Field, Miss. Before his induction he was a physical education instructor at Miami Beach, Florida.

First Lieutenants Carlton R. Asher, '40, Lima, and Ted S. Cooper, '36x, Steubenville, of the Army's Medical Administrative Corps, are instructors in the Medical Field Service School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Tech. Sgt. Durward T. McKee, '37x, Byesville, is serving in the office of the Quartermaster, Canadian-Alaskan Military Highway, at Dawson Creek, British Columbia.

Colonel Wilbur R. McReynolds, '15, in charge of personnel and technical training for the Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army, recently addressed high-ranking automotive and production engineers at a banquet at the Detroit-Leland Hotel in Detroit. Col. McReynolds was a World War I officer who remained in the Army and has served in many foreign and domestic posts meanwhile. He is now located in Washington, D. C.

Aide-de-camp to hard-hitting Maj. Gen. Vandergriфт, commanding officer of the Marines in the Solomon Islands, is Captain C. Raymond Schwenke, '39, Logan. For more news about this young Marine officer see "Marriages" on Page 14. Another aide-de-camp to a high-ranking military man is Captain James V. Galloway, '40, Pales, who is on the staff of Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., commanding officer of the First Armored Corps with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Lieut. Com. Gerald H. Castle

LIEUT. COM. GERALD H. CASTLE, '24, Cincinnati surgeon, for three years in charge of the receiving ward at the Cincinnati General Hospital and more recently engaged in private practice, is now on duty at the U. S. Naval Hospital in San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Castle (Dr. Edna Waterman) is head of the well-known Waterman School (kindergarten) in Cincinnati.

Now enrolled in the training school of the Women Appointed for Volunteer Emergency Service (WAVES) at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., is Mary Lou Hornstein, '40, Aliquippa, Pa., former NYA Coordinator in the office of President James at Ohio University.

Friends of Roscoe "Gus" Menuez, '43x, Benton, a report of whose death aboard an Army bomber over the South Atlantic was widely circulated, will be happy to know that the report was without foundation. An uncle has informed the Alumni Office that Gus is flying a big DC-3 transport plane across Africa for the Pan American Airlines and that he has recently made trips to India, Iraq, Iran, Egypt, and Arabia. The young flyer expects to get home for a few days around Christmas time.

Marine Colonel and Former Hoover Aide Reported Missing in Action

In the face of facts which may warrant a more despairing belief, the relatives and friends of Col. Frank B. Goettge, '20x (see picture on front cover), distinguished Marine Corps officer, still hope that time will bring a happier report than the official Navy Department word that he is "missing and believed killed in action on August 12" in a Pacific war zone.

Colonel Goettge, whose parents reside near Kent, graduated from Kent's Central High School and entered Ohio University in the Fall of 1916. Under the prevailing wartime regulations he participated in varsity athletics though but a freshman. He left the campus in 1917 to enlist in the U. S. Marine Corps as a private. After serving with distinction with the Fifth Marines at the front in France, he was commissioned a lieutenant.

Following the war he served at Quantico, Va., under Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, and it was while at the Marine Base that he gained recognition as one of the greatest football players in American gridiron annals. After watching Goettge in a fullback role for the Marines against a strong Navy team early in the 1920's, Walter Camp, late dean of football experts, wrote: "Today I saw a football player who, for today at least, was greater than Jim Thorpe. His name is Goettge. He's a Marine."

In 1929, the former Ohioan was made a captain while serving in China. Later he returned to Washington, D. C., where he was advanced to the rank of major and was assigned as an aide to President Herbert Hoover and Maj. Gen. Wendell Neville, commandant of the Marine Corps. He was one of the hosts to Ohio University's football team in 1932 when the Bobcats visited the capital enroute to Annapolis for a game with the Navy (which the Bobcats won, incidentally, 14-0). After posing with the Ohio grid squad for a picture outside the Executive Offices, President Hoover asked Colonel Goettge to personally escort the Bobcats on a tour of the White House.

The only available picture of Colonel Goettge, which was used for making the cover cut, was taken shortly after his return from China.

Two years ago the missing Marine was promoted to lieutenant colonel. His advancement to the rank of colonel was so recent that it is thought possible that word of his elevation may not have reached him before his last recorded action.

Besides his parents, those who anxiously await further word concerning the fate of Colonel Goettge, include a wife, sister, and three brothers.

New Type Membership Established For Benefit of Alumni in Service

Upon the unanimous vote of the officers and executive committeemen of the Ohio University Alumni Association a special, temporary type of association membership, to be known as a Service Membership, has been created. The annual fee for the new membership is $1.00, and only Ohio University alumni (graduates or former students) serving in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, or their auxiliary branches, are eligible for it. The service membership, like the regular type, includes a subscription to The Ohio Alumnus.

The memberships make excellent gifts for service men who will welcome The Alumnus as a source of news concerning their alma mater, their friends in civilian activities, and their comrades in arms. Already 197 such memberships have been taken out, many of them by parents in behalf of sons in service.

act of March 3, 1897.

ANNUAL dues for membership in the Ohio University Alumni Association are $2.50, of which $1.50 is for a year's subscription to The Ohio Alumnus. Memberships are renewable on October first of each year.

DISCONTINUANCE—If any subscriber wishes his Alumnus discontinued at the expiration of his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent with the subscription, or at its expiration. Otherwise it is understood that a continuance is desired.

REMITTANCE should be made by check or money order, payable to the order of the Ohio University Alumni Association, and mailed to the Association, Box 285, Athens, Ohio.

Committee Chairman Indicates Ways In Which War Effort Is Furthered

The other day the editor of The Ohio Alumnus asked Dr. E. A. Hansen, dean of the University College and chairman of the University Committee on War Activities, if he would mention some of the ways in which Ohio University is furthering and cooperating with the war effort "Sure thing," said the dean, and in just a few minutes time the editor had the following information on his note pad.

1. A University Committee on War Activities which has charge of all matters relating to the cooperation of the University with all other agencies engaged officially or semi-officially in war work has been established.

2. New courses have been added in laboratory science, mathematics, commerce, and social science to provide both direct and indirect experience which will better prepare students for participation in the war effort, as members of the armed forces or in civilian defense projects.

3. Many courses have been revamped with a view to making them more serviceable in the present emergency.

4. Fourteen two-year defense curricula have been outlined especially to equip students entering war industries or the armed forces.

5. The R.O.T.C. has been enlarged until it now enrolls more than 750 cadets. The University is rated as a Class A military training institution.

6. Two-year courses approved by the U. S. Navy and designed to prepare prospective officers under the V-1, V-5, and V-7 plans have been established.

7. The University, as one of seven key informational centers in Ohio appointed by the U. S. Office of Education, is aiding in the collection and dissemination of printed materials relating to war preparation and cooperation with the Federal Government.

8. The University is cooperating with officials of the City of Athens in the matter of prevention and protective plans.

9. Free courses in such subjects as first aid, fire prevention, etc., are being offered by members of the faculty under the Civilian Defense Program.

Faculty Men Leave Campus for War; Many To Return at End of Service

Not only are Ohio University's undergraduates going to war but faculty members in rapidly increasing numbers also are leaving campus classrooms to don the Army's khaki or the Navy's blue. Still others are entering government service in civilian capacities. While in most cases leaves of absence have been sought and granted, a few of the faculty men have resigned their positions with no thought of returning to them.

Included among those who have entered military or naval service are the following: (Teaching departments at Ohio University are given in parentheses.)

Carlton I. Calkin (art), 2nd Lieut., Army. In Panama.

Dr. Homer Caskey (English), Captain, Army. Chemical Warfare Service, Edgewood Arsenal, Md.

Russell J. Crane (athletic coaching), Lieut., Navy. Physical fitness instructor, Naval Pre-Flight School, University of Georgia.

Dr. Edward H. Davidson (English). Will be inducted into Army on November 2.

Dr. Robert G. Dawes (dramatic art), 1st Lieut., Army. Doctor Dawes, director of the School of Dramatic Art, is stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y., where it is assumed that he will participate in the Army's morale activities.

Thomas M. Floyd (bacteriology), Ensign, Navy. In charge, medical laboratory, Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill.

Dr. Lawrence S. Hall (English), Ensign, Navy. On assignment to the Office of War Information, Washington, D. C.

Dr. J. B. Harrison (English), Private, Army. 566th Technical School Squadron, Atlantic City, N. J.

Dr. E. T. Hellebrandt (economics), 1st Lieut., Army. Anti-Aircraft Div., Coastal Artillery, Fort Eustis, Va.

Dr. E. H. Hudson (health service), Lieut. Com., Navy. At Naval Medical School, Bethesda, Md. Commander Hudson, an authority on tropical diseases, has recently returned from foreign service.

Richard Hudson (business law), Private, Army. Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Dr. Robert C. Hume (health service), Captain, Medical Corps, Army. Present post unknown.

Carl W. Knox (office of the dean of men), Ensign, Navy. Activities cannot be disclosed.

Thomas Larrick (architecture), 1st Lieut., Army. Lieut. Larrick is a construction supervisor at a new camp near Decatur, Ala.

Dr. Don D. Miller (mathematics), Lieut. (j.g.), Navy. In Hawaii. Activities cannot be disclosed.

Ernest F. Ray, 24 (accounting), 1st Lieut., Army Air Corps. 6th Statistical Control Unit, Maxwell Field, Ala.

Anthony M. "Tony" Reis, 38 (business staff), Corporal, Army Air Corps. Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

W. J. Smith (history), Captain, Army Air Corps. In the Near East. Activities cannot be disclosed.

Norman Buchan (journalism), Lieutenant, Navy. Prof. Buchan is still on the campus, awaiting call to active duty.

Those in government service with civilian status include:

Dr. Francis P. Bundy (physics), research physicist, under water laboratory, Harvard University. Activities cannot be disclosed.

Frederic O. Bundy (government), in the Office of War Information, Washington, D. C.

Raymond D. Chapman (chemistry), assistant chemist, testing laboratory, West Virginia Ordnance Works, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va.

Douglas W. Clausen (industrial arts), vocational training specialist, Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio.

R. Drexel MacTavish (sociology), with the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

Dr. James V. Rice (romance languages), civilian specialist in the Army Signal Corps. Activities cannot be disclosed.

Homecoming a Successful Occasion

A larger-than-expected crowd of alumni mostly from the younger classes was on hand to help celebrate the 1942 Homecoming occasion, October 24. The weather was ideal, the war-modified program was entirely satisfactory, and the outcome of the day's feature a gridiron contest with a traditional rival (see page 9) was much to the liking of Ohioans.

A more detailed account of Homecoming activities will appear in the November Alumnus.

Ill Health Forces Retirement of

Miss Kahler from English Staff

Ill health, after 31 years of teaching in Ohio University classrooms, forced the retirement this fall of Miss Mary Engle Kahler, '02, associate professor of English.

Miss Kahler joined the local faculty in 1911 after several years of teaching in the Athens city schools; in high schools in Ross, Miami, and Montgomery counties, and at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va.

In replying to her letter of resignation, Dean W. S. Gamertsfelder wrote, in part, as follows:

"On behalf of the College of Arts and Sciences and for myself, personally, I should like to express appreciation for your many years of faithful and efficient teaching . . . The memories of the years of association with faculty and students on the campus, will, no doubt, linger as an abiding joy and satisfaction. The students whom you have instructed in English will feel a lasting debt of gratitude for your helpful service."

Miss Kahler will continue to live in Athens and will indulge her interest in travel as her health and wartime restrictions permit.

Official Roster of Men and Women

In Armed Forces Is Being Compiled

At the request of President James and the War Activities Committee of the University the Alumni Secretary has assumed responsibility for compiling and maintaining an "Official Roster of Ohio University Men and Women in Military and Naval Service."

Since the honor roll is to include the names of former students as well as graduates, the task of securing names and pertinent data is a tremendous one, and one which will call for cooperation from a great many persons if it is to be satisfactorily accomplished.

All readers of The Ohio Alumnus, therefore, are called upon to report to the Alumni Secretary, second floor, Wilson Hall, or P. O. Box 285, Athens, Ohio, the names of Ohioans whom they know to be serving in the country's armed and auxiliary forces.

Send the names of all service men and women that you know, even though the names may possibly be reported by other persons. At the present time there are approximately 1,000 names on the roster.

On and About the Campus . . .

THE TWO Spanish-American War cannon (see picture) and the two pyramidal piles of cannon balls that stood near them on the northwest corner of the campus for more than 35 years have gone to serve their country again, via the scrap metal conversion route. The proceeds of the sale, $120.41, were given by the university treasurer, George C. Parks, '08, to the U.S.O.

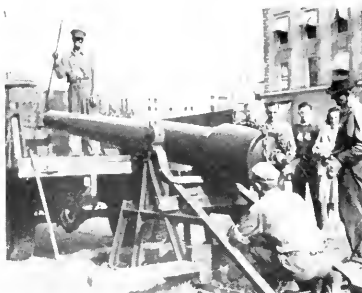

WILSON AND McGuffey Halls, second and third oldest buildings, respectively, on the campus, present a new and greatly improved appearance to students and visitors these days. During the past summer workmen removed the accumulated applications of gray paint from the exterior walls leaving the original hand-made brick as they looked nearly a century and a quarter ago. To further the restoration, colonial-style doors and small paned windows were installed.

AMONG THE many war-inspired courses now being offered at Ohio University are Elements of Navigation, Meteorology, Military Law and Defense Legislation, Group and National Morale, Military Psychology and Morale, Explosives, Administration of Personnel, Readings in Military German, War Policies and Problems, Issues of the Present War, War and Social Change, and Propaganda. Dozens of other courses have been re-pointed to add to their value as background for military service. A physical fitness course must be taken by every student each semester "for the duration." A course in radio fundamentals is offered free to high school graduates who have had high school mathematics and physics.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA films confiscated by the U. S. War Department were shown to university audiences early this month under the auspices of the Division of Military Science and Tactics. The films were pictures of the German war machine which were used to instill fear in the minds of persons whose countries were about to be attacked or intimidated. The Polish campaign and the early German victories in the West were subjects of two of the films.

THE PURCHASE and development of a permanent state-owned airport for Ohio University was authorized on Oct. 2 by the Board of Trustees. Approval of the State Board of Control for a transfer of funds appropriated for building purposes to the airport development project is being sought. Contemplated in the new plans is the purchase of the present airport, Rowland Field, east of Athens, together with buildings, equipment, and additional acreage to provide a landing area 4,035 feet long and 1,030 feet wide. The funds which are desired for the proposed purchase were originally appropriated for new construction at Ohio University but the money cannot now be used because of war restrictions on building materials.

DEAN WILLIAM M. Young, of the College of Applied Science and coordinator of the Civilian Pilot Training program at Ohio University, has received a private pilot's license following test flights made this fall. Dean Young is one of the few CPT coordinators in the country possessing a pilot's rating. Aviation training at Ohio University is now on a full-time military basis. Participants must enlist in either the Army or Navy and be assigned to the preliminary flight training and ground school course which the University offers. After eight weeks the CPT trainees go to one of the service schools for further instruction.

THE COMMUNITY Concert Series, for which students are granted a special season rate of $1.00, will bring to Memorial Auditorium, Leonard Warren, Metropolitan baritone, Nov. 4; a streamlined version of the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro," Feb. 2, 1943; and the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, April 7. A fourth number may be added later.

MEMBERS OF a Recruiting Board, made up of representatives of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard, will address a student convocation in Memorial Auditorium on Nov. 11 to explain the nature and requirements of their respective reserves. They will remain over the next day to answer the questions of interested persons. Returning on Dec. 4 and 5 the Recruiting Board will formally enlist any student who has decided to enter one of the reserve corps.

BELIEVE IT or not, for the first time in, oh, many moons, the staff members in the offices of the dean of men and the dean of women who assist students in finding work opportunities have more jobs on their books than takers. For the first time, according to Miss Louise Field, it has been necessary to seek girls for dormitory work. Assistant Dean of Men Harley Smith reports that some of the N.Y.A. jobs open to men have not been applied for.

PARIS-BORN and a war refugee, Michel Etlin is a freshman at Ohio University this fall. When the Nazis occupied the French capital, Michel and his family fled to an ancestral castle in Bayonne. Enroute he saw brutal German machine-gunners mow down long rows of horror-stricken refugees and saw enemy tanks driven over the dead and sleeping bodies of his countrymen. His escape to America was by way of South Africa and Cuba. Regarding the absence of hardships in this country, when interviewed recently concerning plans for the future, he said, "For me to stay here and dance and see football games is wrong. Soon I will join my father and brother in England where they are helping to win the war."

AN ENROLLMENT of 775 cadets in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit at Ohio University is an increase of 160 men over the corresponding semester last year. In speaking of the growth of the military department, Colonel Churchill explained, "It is logical and to be expected because of the benefits to be derived from such training when eventually these men enter the military service. During the past summer the military department has received letters from former ROTC men who speak strongly of the advantages that the Corps has afforded them since entering the military service, especially those men in officer training camps." The War Department has authorized an increase in the quota for advanced course students from last year's 50 to 97. The instructional staff in the Division of Military Science and Tactics now consists of Col. James M. Churchill; Lt. Col. James B. Golden; Maj. Raymond A. Lee; Capt. Robert M. French; 1st Lt. Berwyn L. Miller; Staff Sgt. Harold B. Jones; and Staff Sgt. Jack S. Sampson. In addition to the instructors, the ROTC staff includes Sgt. Edward B. Raber, Jr., and Pvt. John E. Taylor. Pictured in the R.O.T.C. color guard are: (Left to right) William B. Wolfe, Athens; John H. Stauffer, Erie, Pa.; Robert L. Queisser, Cleveland; and William R. Doherty, Reading.

SECRETARY OF War Stimson's late fall announcement that men in the Army Enlisted Reserve, Unassigned, would likely be called to the colors as soon as they reached the age of twenty regardless of the state of progress in their academic careers, served to upset a great many students at Ohio University as it doubtless did at other schools where the reserve enlistments were being made. Upon the passage of the proposed draft law for 18 and 19-year-olds, a new induction policy may be announced, although it is likely no student will be permitted to remain in school long enough to complete a degree course unless he is well embarked upon it, and then only if it is one of a select number of technical and professional courses. There are 382 men enrolled in the Army Enlisted Reserves at Ohio University.

MORE THAN 300 couples attended the 13th annual Band Dance, Oct. 16, in the Men's Gym. Bandmaster Curtis Janssen was named guest of honor for the occasion in recognition of his 16 years of service at Ohio University. June Lewis, Lancaster sophomore, who was last year's "Sweetheart of O. U.," was presented as Band Sponsor for the current school year.

The retiring sponsor was Antoinette "Toni" Rini, Cleveland.

THAT OHIO University men and women taking their first year in is Anne Woeha Cloud, an attractive young Indian girl and a graduate of Vassar College. Miss Cloud, whose middle name means "happy woman," taught arts and crafts among numerous tribes in Arizona and to the Sioux Indians in South Dakota. Her father, Henry Roe Cloud, whose name is listed in "Who's Who in America," is a full-blooded Winnebago Indian. He is a Yale graduate and was appointed superintendent of Haskell Institute and of Indian education generally by President Roosevelt in 1933. When asked what attracted her to Ohio University, Miss Cloud replied, "The practical aspects of the courses here interested me most in preparing for the teaching of art."

Ohio University R.O.T.C. Color Guard

medical schools carry with them a better preparation and background for first-year work in medicine than most of their fellow students is proved by the record. The Association of American Medical Colleges reports that, over a nine-year period, only 6% of first-year medical students from Ohio University failed. The average failure for first-year students from Ohio colleges generally was 13%. Ohio U. had the best record of any of the state-supported institutions in Ohio, while only two colleges in the state had a better record than Ohio University's. Both of these colleges have a highly selected student body and send relatively few students to medical colleges.

ENROLLED AS a graduate student in the College of Fine Arts

BAND MASTER Curtis Janssen will no longer be found in quarters in the Music Hall Annex on President Street. He now occupies a new office and studio on the second floor of Music Hall. Rooms in the building immediately to the rear of Music Hall, formerly a cooperative home, are used for music practice purposes. The President Street "Annex" is now occupied by students under a cooperative arrangement.

AMONG THE plays definitely scheduled for production by the Ohio University Theater this year are "Kind Lady," "Thunder Rock," and "Springtime for Henry." A musical comedy, probably "Hayfoot, Strawfoot," is planned as a project to be presented during Fine Arts Week. Two more plays under consideration are "Blithe Spirit" and "Junior Miss." The theater's final production will be either "The Devil Passes" or "Best Foot Forward."

OHIO UNIVERSITY women, who during the last year established the first Red Cross Auxiliary Chapter in the country, have organized classes in bandage making, first aid, and home nursing. They are also making kit bags for overseas use. Nearly 150 girls are participating in the program.

PLANs ARE well under way for the big Military Bdl to be held November 20.

Registration Figure Exceeds Expectations; Few Staff Replacements and Additions Necessary

OHIO UNIVERSITY, like a great many other educational institutions in the state and nation, was agreeably surprised to find, after registration formalities had been completed this fall, that there were more students on hand than had been anticipated through the summer months. Whether the school authorities will be as happily surprised when the second semester returns are in early next spring is something else again; something which time and circumstances beyond local control will determine.

One year ago Registrar Dilley was able to announce the presence of 3,133 students on the campus. During the second semester of 1941-42 this number fell to 2,830, a shrinkage of 303.

The enrollment for the current year, first semester, is 2,753, a decrease of only 77 students since the closing semester of last year and only 380 since the opening of last year. Predictions for this year had involved figures as low as 2,200. The men, as usual in recent years, outnumber the women, 1,368 to 1,185.

A number of leaves of absence have been granted to faculty members for military and government service. In many instances the services have been voluntarily offered while in other cases they have been claimed by Uncle Sam through the familiar workings of the Selective Service Act. The names of faculty men who have left the campus in recent months will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Because qualified substitutes are sometimes difficult to find and because, in some cases, current and prospective decreases in enrollment make replacements unnecessary, faculty men and women engaging in war service are being replaced only when a re-distribution of the teaching load within an affected department results in a serious overloading of staff members. It is a matter of university policy, in so far as possible, to preserve faculty positions for those who vacate them to render war service.

No replacements or additions of persons of major rank have been necessary, the list of newcomers to the teaching staff including an assistant professor, seven instructors, one part-time instructor, and two visiting lecturers.

versity of Illinois and Chicago University, has come to Ohio University as assistant professor of home economics. She has been a part-time instructor in home management at Columbia University and has been a member of the faculty at Massachusetts State College.

Lyman M. Partridge, Provo, Utah, has been appointed instructor in dramatic art and speech. Mr. Partridge is a graduate of Brigham Young University, Utah, and holds a master's degree from Columbia. He was formerly clinical assistant in the speech department at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Emmet E. Shipman, Urbana, Ill., is a new instructor in photography. He has been a partner in a large photo finishing business and has had experience in studio photography. He is a member of the Biological Photographic Association and has held teaching assistantships at Western Reserve University and the University of Illinois, schools from which he received his advanced degrees.

Lorna V. Welch, Kansas City, Mo., with degrees from the University of Nebraska and Columbia, is instructor in secretarial studies. She has recently held a similar position at Cottey College, Nevada, Mo., and has taught English and speech in the high school at Geneva, Nebr.

Charles S. Bolin, '32, who has done graduate work at the University of West Virginia and the University of Kentucky, has returned to his alma mater as an instructor in physical welfare. He has had a very successful coaching career in Athens County high schools.

Muriel E. Schochen, Lakewood, Western Reserve University graduate, is another new instructor in physical welfare. Miss Schochen has studied and taught at Ohio State University and, in New York City, has studied dancing with Anna Sokolow and at the Hanya Holm Studio.

First Lieut. Berwyn Miller, recently connected with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University of Kentucky and the University of Dayton has been assigned to Ohio University for duty as an instructor in military science and tactics.

Roger C. Quisenberry, '42, Syracuse, Ohio, who graduated "with highest honor" and a degree in electrical engineering, has been named to the Ohio U. staff as an instructor in electrical engineering.

Mrs. Evelyn Coulter Luchs, '27, Athens, is another graduate who has accepted a position on her alma mater's teaching staff. Mrs. Luchs, wife of the Rev. Fred E. Luchs, minister of the Athens Presbyterian Church, is part-time instructor in education. Mrs. Luchs has held a teaching fellowship at Columbia University, from which she received a master's degree, and has studied at Chicago University. She has taught at Edinboro State Normal School, Erie, Pa.; State Teachers College, Milwaukee, Wis.; and the Francis Parker School, Chicago.

Two men have been appointed to visiting lectureships in English.

Peden's "Not So Bad" Prediction Supported By Grid Record at Season's Half-Way Mark

BECAUSE THE year's residence stipulation was removed from the eligibility rules for the duration, Coach Don Peden was greeted this fall by the largest opening-day squad of varsity gridiron candidates in his experience—31 former varsity men and 40 freshmen.

At the end of the first week of practice the Bobcat mentor broke down and admitted that maybe his team "wouldn't be so bad" this year. Such an un-Peden-like statement, almost the "ultra" in optimism for him, was immediately hailed by the fans as a tip-off on a successful season. Then the Ohio coach became his cautious, canny self again by pointing out that he had but four outstanding veterans in his squad and that "you can't win games with four players."

At the present time, however, Oct. 26, the season is half over, and we'll let the record speak for itself. Four games have been played and three victories chalked up. The loss, while it was undeniably that, came about in one of those games in which the slightest shift in the breaks of the fray could easily have altered the outcome.

The 1942 season was opened, in Ohio Stadium, Oct. 3, with Akron as the opponent. John Fekete, Findlay, in the tailback position, paced the Bobcats as they gave the "Zippers" a sound 39-0 lacing to help make up for the scoreless tie of last year.

Bobby Johnson, Waverly, diminutive wingback, and Bill Heinz (who's jersey number is 57), Cincinnati, veteran fullback, shared scoring honors with Fekete. A freshman newcomer to the backfield, John Szakacs, Fairport Harbor, showed promise as an understudy to the fleet Fekete, while Gerald Ramsey, Athens wingback and letterman, was another fellow who proved handy on occasions.

On the line, the veterans Carl Jamison, Ada, guard, Joe Riccardi, Sandusky, tackle, and Bill Dittrich, Euclid, and "Zip" Zednik, Cleveland, ends, all lettermen except Zednik, were Line Coach Trautwein's most seasoned performers.

On October 10, the Bobcats defeated a burly Butler team from Indianapolis, 6-0. The statistics of the game was heavily in favor of the Ohioans, even though the scoreboard story seems to belie the fact. Two of the Bobcats' three touchdowns were nullified by penalties, while on another occasion the Pedenmen were held for downs on the three-yard line.

Fekete, who made the tally that counted, was perhaps the defensive as well as the offensive bright light for Ohio. However, the fact that the Butler Bulldogs gained only 18 yards from rushing and nary a first down in the first half, indicates that the Green and White line play was generally above reproach.

On paper, the 26-7 defeat which the Bobcats sustained at the hands of a fighting Cincinnati Bearcat team in the Queen City, in a night game, October 17, was the worst reversal in six years for a Peden-coached team. As intimated in an earlier paragraph, however, it was close to anybody's ball game throughout. A feat rarely accomplished in modern football history at Ohio U., the outcharging of a Bobcat line, had more than a little to do with the outcome of the game. There was no after-game wailing in the Bobcat locker-room, withal; only a grim determination to avenge the licking at the next meeting.

The Bobcats came back the next Saturday, October 24, to win their 15th consecutive Homecoming game, an encounter with the Ohio Wesleyan Bishops, by a score of 26 to 14.

Big John Fekete was responsible for three of Ohio's four touchdowns and staged the niftiest ball-toting performance that Bobcat fans have been privileged to witness in many a year. In fact, the team's showing as a whole was such as would satisfy the most exacting coach or delight a victory-eager homecoming crowd anywhere.

Bobcat Ball Carrier Knocks at Opponents' Goal

The Bishops, dangerous throughout the entire 60 minutes of play, didn't have a match for Ohio's backfield ace in their line-up, and that was their margin of defeat.

George Mills, Wadsworth freshman, the first colored boy on a varsity grid squad for many years, and Louie Venditti, Middlebranch junior, serving as replacements for the line-smashing Heinz, have lightened coaching worries during an absence of the Cincinnati fullback from active duty due to an injury.

During the remainder of the season the Bobcats will meet Miami, Oct. 31, at Oxford; Western Reserve, Friday night, Nov. 6, in Cleveland; Xavier in a Dad's Day game, Nov. 14, in Athens; and Dayton in a Thanksgiving Day game, Nov. 26, on the Fliers' home field.

JOHN FEKETE, Ohio's stellar halfback, is a brother of Ohio State University's sensational sophomore fullback, Gene Fekete. Gene now leads the Western Conference in points scored, and is one of the top-ranking point producers in the nation. John, on the other hand, is certain to win state-wide recognition for his ball lugging ability and will add no mean measure of lustre to the name of Fekete. In the Wesleyan game John carried the ball 27 times for a total of 279 yards, or an average of better than 10 yards per try; he made three touchdowns on runs of 6, 42, and 34 yards in length; completed two out of three passes attempted; and made 15 tackles from his defensive halfback position.

Here and There Among the Alumni

While attending a Theta Chi fraternity conference at the University of Michigan late this summer, Prof. George Starr Lasher, director of the Ohio University School of Journalism and former national president of his fraternity, now its editor, was approached by a gentleman who introduced himself as an Ohio University man. He proved to be HERMAN G. CROW, '08, 2-yr., city manager of St. Joseph, Mich.

DR. HARRY W. MAYES, '08, a leading Brooklyn, N. Y. obstetrician, directed one of the round-table discussions at the meeting of the American Congress on Obstetrics and Gynecology last April and also read a paper before the American Medical Association in June. Doctor Mayes is the earnest advocate of a simple method of sterilization in obstetric cases, and reports there have been no deaths from infection in the last 12,000 deliveries accomplished at the Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn, where he is a staff physician. Doctor Mayes' son, DR. BURTON MAYES, '39, is intern this year at Methodist Hospital. A daughter, HELEN MAYES, '41, is a laboratory technician in Cornell University's New York hospital. For news of another daughter, RUTH MAYES FINZER, '41, see "Marriages" on page 14. Mrs. Finzer has a scholastic standing among the top ten in her class at the Western Reserve University Medical School.

DR. W. T. MORGAN, '09, professor of European history at Indiana University, was the Ohio University Men's Faculty Club forum speaker on October 22. The Hoosier historian was in England at the outbreak of the war in 1939 and related some of his experiences. Doctor Morgan is the author of a large number of treatises on English history and political life, among them a recently completed "Bibliography of British History (1700-1715)" in five thick volumes. He has given the five-volume bibliography and copies of many of his other works to the Ohio University library.

FRANK H. PALMER, '12, and Mrs. Palmer, Columbus, had as a mid-summer visitor a friend, William Ray, a 32-year-old sailor in the British Merchant Marine, whose immediate reason for a visit to the United States was the torpedoing of his ship somewhere in the Atlantic. A veteran of twelve years on the high seas, Sailor Ray was in Ceylon when the Jap bombers selected his vessel for target practice, and he was in Liverpool during a nine-day blitz in which his ship was struck by more than 300 incendiary bombs.

Courses for a new war school at Ohio State University were developed by DR. SAMUEL RUSHAW, '14, of the Ohio State University psychology department, and Lieut. Howard Hamilton, of the U. S. Navy. The instruction has been recognized by high military and naval commands of the United Nations. Officers from all service branches will be sent to the school where they will learn to recognize speedily all naval surface craft and all airplanes used by the warring nations. They will then return to their stations to become instructors. Ten British naval and air force officers are now attending the school.

DR. J. L. HUPP, '16, former state supervisor of workers education under the Federal WPA program, has accepted a position as associate professor of education at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon. He writes that "There is one course that I have that is quite challenging. The State Department of Education is cooperating with the Division of Child Development and Teacher

Personnel of the Commission on Teacher Education of the American Council of Education in its study of human growth and development. A course in this subject is required to be taught in all West Virginia colleges educating teachers and the course is a requisite for the certification of teachers."

On August 20, MARY H. KERR, '17, Garfield Heights, Cleveland, received a cablegram conveying birthday greetings from her brother ALEC C. KERR, '16, who is an administrative assistant to Mr. Avenell Harriman of the U. S. Maritime Commission in London. In typical "pup" vernacular he stated that he was going strong. Knowing the track record made by Kerr during his college days that could mean a lot. Alec is a former European general manager for a large steamship company.

DANA M. KING, '17, has returned to Hamilton High School as football coach, a post he filled before he was named head gridiron coach and later director of athletics at the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. M. J. Walsh, dean of instruction at State Teachers College, Indiana, Pa., having reached the age of 70 last spring, announced his resignation from the deanship. He was a member of the Ohio University faculty for four years, 1916-20, and is the husband of Mrs. LOUISE GILCHRIST WALSH, '18, who taught mathematics in the John Hancock High School (University high school, now discontinued) during a portion of Doctor Walsh's stay in Athens. Dean Walsh went to the Indiana school immediately after leaving Ohio University. He twice served as acting president of Indiana State Teachers College. A testimonial dinner attended by 150 members of the faculty, board of trustees and others, was tendered the retiring administrator.

DR. H. C. KOCH, '19, who holds full professorial rank in the School of Education at the University of Michigan, will represent Ohio University at the inauguration of Dr. Harley Leonard Turner as president of Hillsdale College, on October 30. Over in New York State, J. B. STONE, '33, secretary and sales manager of Dawley Real Estate, Inc., Syracuse, will officially represent his alma mater at the inauguration of Dr. Everett Needham Case as president of Colgate University.

Two Ohio University men were prize winners in the $200,000 Progress Award Program of the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation. Prizes were offered in scores of divisions and industrial classifications and were won by leading industrial and army engineers. The Ohioans received $100 each for papers describing arc welding methods in their plants. They were FRED L. PLUMMER, '29, research engineer of the Hammond Iron Works at Warren, Pa., and CLARENCE H. McMILLAN, '37, a member of the time study department of the Oliver Iron & Steel Corporation in Pittsburgh.

Sammy Kaye and Marvin Long, the latter with Fred Waring, are not the only Ohioans in big-time radio and dance band music. If you listen to any of the following programs—DuPont Cavalcade, Bell Telephone Hour, or March of Time—you'll hear and enjoy the work of W. O. TRONE, '20. Bill is manager and musical director for Don Voorhees.

On June 9, EDNA ARUNDEL, '21, (see picture), was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Yale University. Miss Arundel was on leave from a faculty position at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, to which she has now returned as head of the geography department. At Yale she held a teaching fellowship and engaged in research in the field of geography and human ecology. Doctor Arundel earned her master's degree at Columbia University. On Oct. 4 and 5 she served as a representative of Ohio University at the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration of the founding of the Woman's College.

JOHN G. HIBBARD, '22, who with Mrs. Hibbard (Isabel McCann, '22x), lives in East Orange, N. J., is outside farm manager from the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J. Mr. Hibbard's duties include the broad supervision of more than $64,000,000 worth of farms which have been taken over by the big insurance company. His travels take him from the East Coast to the Rockies and from Louisiana to Saskatchewan, Canada.

DR. MARVIN L. FAIR, '23, professor of transportation and public utilities at Temple University, Philadelphia, is again in government service, this time with the Bureau of the Budget in Washington. He has previously served as a research director for the Federal Communications Commission.

When PVT. CLIFFORD R. GLAZIER, '23, took up soldiering at Ft. Logan, Colo., he, of necessity, gave up the principalship of Rome Twp. High School at Stewart. There being a vacancy, the school board elevated MARGARET J. LAVERTY, '31, a longtime teacher in the school, to the principalship.

If experience is worth anything then the Gallipolis public school system is blessed with pedagogical talent. A report prepared this summer for Supt. E. E. HIGGINS, '25, listed the teachers with the longest classroom and administrative experience. Among these were ten Ohio University graduates whose teaching service in Gallipolis and elsewhere totaled 261 years. The Ohioans, with the number of teaching years for each in parentheses, are: E. E. HIGGINS, '25 (21 years); CLARA MAE DAVIS, '37 (23 years); MAY DAVIS, '31, 2-yr. (30); BEN EACHUS, '20 (26); MARIE MEAL, '38 (24); DOROTHY ROADAMOUR, '38 (19); LAURENCE E. SMELTZER, '20 (24); GARNET STRINGFELLOW, '28, 2-yr. (33); CLARA WORMAN, '27, 2-yr. (36); and MRS. OSA BAIRD, '25x (25).

RUBY MERCER, '27, concert artist and light opera star, is appearing in the leading feminine role of "The New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg and Oscar Hammerstein at Carnegie Hall in New York City. The show is the third in a series of revivals being staged by some well-known producers. Miss Mercer, in private life, Mrs. Theodor Haig, was recently interviewed by a reporter for a nationally-circulated magazine who asked six New York and six Hollywood personalities, "What do you do in a black-out?" Miss Mercer replied, "I'm a dog-air raid warden for the A.S.P.C.A. My job is to see that people get their pets off the street and tied securely in a quiet spot... to some heavy piece of furniture or to a hook in the baseboard."

GERALD C. POWELL, '27, who has been with the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in South America for the past twelve years, has been transferred from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Lima, Peru, where he will be secretary-treasurer of the company. With him on the trans-Andean trip went Mrs. Powell (ELIZABETH WERNERT, '27) and their two sons, Donald and Andy.

The RAYMOND A. HORTONS (RAY, '28, and the MISSUS, formerly MARIE BECHOLDT, '28) are now residents of Los Angeles, Calif., where Ray is credit sales manager of the big May Company store. He was previously associated with the Gimbel Brothers store in New York City as manager of the credit department.

MRS. HELEN MCDADE BUSH, '29, 2-yr., wife of Lieut. Col. George Bush, with her daughter, Jane, was evacuated from Hawaii in March, 1942. Colonel Bush and his family were residing at Schofield Barracks on Dec. 7 when the Japanese gave the big army post a terrific bombing and machine gun strafing. The colonel is still with his regiment in a war zone. Mrs. Bush is now at her parental home in Gallipolis.

W. A. SMITH, '29, M.Ed., '42, has been given a three-year contract as superintendent of schools at Pomeroy after serving one year as acting superintendent. During the past year Mr. Smith successfully headed a bond issue campaign for a stadium, a swimming pool, and a vocational agriculture building. The Pomeroy school pian is the husband of the former Miss VIRGINIA KOERNER, '30.

NIHIL B. FRANK, '30, A.M., '38, is assistant professor of electrical engineering and director of the Signal Corps program at Toledo University. He formerly was employed in the materiel testing laboratory at Wright Field, Dayton, and as assistant to the head of the engineering division of the Army Air Corps Technical School at Chanute Field, Ill. He has also taught at the North Dakota Agricultural College, Fargo, N. D. Mr. Frank married Miss MARGARET WOOD, '31, in 1930. There are two children, Charles and Martha.

BERTHA M. KILBERG, '31, who is a physical education instructor for girls in the high school at Hamden, Conn., near New Haven, spent her summer vacation substituting for a Y.W.C.A. worker in the U.S.O. center at Rockford, Ill., location of Camp Grant. Year before last she enjoyed a vacation cruising, by schooner, to the Hawaiian Islands.

Mrs. Richard J. Lamb, Jr. (MARY HARWICK, '31, A.M., '32), who has been a resident of Pittsburgh for several years, has accompanied her husband to New York City where he has accepted a position on the editorial staff of Business Week magazine. In the Pennsylvania city Mr. Lamb was an editor for the Pittsburgh Press. He has also been associated with the United Press News Service. Mrs. Lamb taught in Athens Junior High School prior to her marriage in 1938.

GLERIDE O. FOOTE, '32, is head of the U. S. O. center and recreation unit at Fort Sill, Okla. Miss Foote also serves as bridesmaid for weddings at the post. Mrs. Ralph E. Gordon (ELIZABETH WILSON, '28) has resigned her position as physical education instructor in the Mingo Junction schools to serve as assistant director in the Y.W.C.A. branch of the U. S. O. at Camp Forrest, Tenn. MARIANA BING, '28, former voice teacher at Jameson Conservatory, William Wood College, and Ohio University's 1942 Alumni Luncheon soloist, has been appointed a Red Cross recreation worker in the post hospital at Camp Bowie, Texas. Miss Bing was given special training for her work at Camp Custer, Mich.

DR. WILLIAM R. RIDDEL, well-known Jackson physician and husband of Mrs. VIRGINIA STEVENSON RIDDEL, '32, 2-yr., was killed August 16, 1942, when his automobile struck a bridge abutment as he was returning from a golf course near Jackson. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Mrs. Clarence E. Achberger (MADGE CAMPBELL, '33), Mentor, and AGNES I. EISEN, '31, A.M., '33, a critic teacher in Ohio University's Rufus Putnam School, were mid-September guests of Mrs. Wade E. Shurtleff (KATHERINE BOYD, '35, A.M., '36), at the Shurtleff home in Cleveland. Mrs. Shurtleff is a former critic teacher at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, Richmond.

MARVIN W. LONG, '33, librarian, arranger, transposer, and vocalist for Fred Waring and his famous orchestra, shot a hole in one one day last month at the Plandome, Long Island, Golf Club. The ace was on the 165-yard third hole. Yep, Marvin says, he planned it that way.

Lieut. Howard Hively, husband of Mrs. ALICE BEASLEY HIVELY, '34, has recently been transferred from the American Eagle Squadron of the R.A.F. to the U. S. Army Air Corps in England. Lieutenant Hively has been flying British Spitfires in combat since January. He has been officially credited with the destruction of nine German planes and received an honor award for his part in aerial activities incident to the Commando raid on Dieppe. Mrs. Hively and daughter, Davis, are making their home with the formers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Beasley, Athens.

HARRY A. HOPE, '34x, a member of the 1932 wrestling team, a technical sergeant in the 63rd Coastal Artillery, and an expert in the handling of anti-aircraft guns, has been on duty near Seattle, Wash., guarding vital industrial and military points. He is slated to attend an officer candidate school at an early date. Sergeant Hope is a brother of GERALDINE C. HOPE, '22, secretary to the alumni secretary at Ohio University.

DR. H. WARNER KLOPFER, '34, A.M., who received his Ph.D. degree this summer at Ohio State University, is professor of biology at Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, S. D. Mrs. Ruth McCoy Kloepfer, his wife, also holds a master's degree from Ohio University. The Kloepfers have one child, a daughter.

JESSIE A. ZOUSMER, '35, A.M., '36, former Columbus newspaper reporter, who recently married Miss RUTH TAYLOR '37, Newark newswoman, has joined the news room staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York City. He goes to work at two a.m. each morning to gather and edit material for a 15-minute newscast which goes on the air at nine a.m. Material for the news program comes from the major press services, the organization's own correspondents, and from pick-ups over a short-wave listening station.

MRS. DOROTHY NELLE MICHAEL MINISTER '36, a former secretary in the office of the dean of men, has returned to the Ohio University campus to serve

City. When she first reported to the Stouffer training school in Cleveland, Miss Stocker expected to be sent to the organization's Chicago restaurant. She was sent to New York, however, and after a few weeks at another one of the company's restaurants was given the choice Park Avenue assignment.

MRS. EDITH DECKMAN JONES, '38, was the October choice of the Cleveland Federation of Women's Clubs for the "Woman of the Month." Mrs. Jones is a process inspector on the graveyard shift at the Parker Appliance Company, a defense industry. Before she became Mrs. Jones, Edith Deckman taught in the first grade in an Elyria school. On Aug. 15, 1941, she married Mr. Jones who is now Private Jones of the U. S. Army, somewhere in England.

HAROLD N. CARLSLE, '39, M.S., '41, now in his second year of graduate work at Ohio State University, is the recipient of a Rockefeller Fellowship in the department of bacteriology. Fellow Carlsle was a graduate assistant at Ohio University before going to O.S.U.

SAMUEL F. DOWNER, '40, former Men's Union president, who has been associated with the Burroughs Adding Machine Company in the Wheeling, W. Va. district, has taken a position as office and credit manager of the Jessop Steel Company in Washington, Pa. The company has about 2,000 employees, 90 of them in the main office, and produces a high grade of tool and die steel. In a recent letter to the Alumni Secretary, Sam said that "The old folks [meaning Mrs. Downer, who was JESSIE COOPER, '38, and himself] got all dressed up and attended a dance here in Washington, but it couldn't touch the dances at Ohio U." Little Benita Elizabeth, aged nine months, did not get to go to the dance.

Immediately after graduation DEAN A. HEYDICK, '40, became associated with the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company as a member of the industrial market research department in their central district office in Cleveland. In August of this year he was transferred to Detroit to take charge of the marketing research department, handling agency relations, and to work as assistant to the regional manager. The date of November 28 on Dean's calendar has a red circle around it. But more about that, later.

LIEUT. EMERSON HOUF, '40 (see picture), of the U. S. Marines, is one of approximately a dozen Ohio University men now in the thick of the Pacific warfare in the Solomon Islands. Lieutenant Houf is on that particularly hot spot, Guadalcanal. Back in the states, his wife, the former ROSEMARY McHALE, '40, a journalism major, has just accepted a position on the news staff of the Springfield (Ohio) News-Sun. Mrs. Houf was for several months a stenographer at Camp Davis, N. Car. The Marine officer is a son of Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Houf, Athens. Doctor and Mrs. Houf are also the parents of the late LIEUT. PAUL HOUF, '37, a Marine Corps pilot who was killed Aug. 7, 1939, when his pursuit plane crashed in a power dive near San Diego, Calif. Doctor Houf is a member of the Ohio University faculty and is chairman of Athens County Selective Service Board No. 1.

In this case, the address, "c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Wash." means that PVT. BERNARD D. OSBORNE, '41, is somewhere in Alaska where he is serving with an air force squadron. Last May he graduated from the Air Corps Technical School at Fort Logan, Colo. He had previously been located at Sheppard Field, Texas.

BEN MADOW, '41, is on the teaching staff, in the chemistry department, at Washington and Jefferson University. Ben was a fellow in chemistry at Ohio University for a year following graduation.

At the time his picture was taken—last June—SAILOR JAMES PERSHING ISAACS, '42x, was a hospital apprentice, second class, and was honor man of his recruit training company at the Great as secretary to the university editor. CLARK E. WILLIAMS, '21, while her husband, G. ELBERT MINISTER, '36x, is giving his Uncle Sam a lift. Corporal Minister is now attending an officer candidate school at Fort Sill, Okla.

PAUL C. HALLECK, '36, whose athletic prowess was well-known to his Ohio University contemporaries, is head coach and assistant athletic director at Fishburne Military School, Waynesboro, Va. Mr. Halleck's wife, a Virginia girl, would like to secure for Paul copies of the Athena yearbooks which appeared during the period of 1933 to 1937, inclusive. Anyone having a copy of any of these issues which he is willing to sell should get in touch with Mrs. Halleck at the Waynesboro school.

JOHN C. HOLLIDAY, '37, is a medical student at Ohio State University while Mrs. Holliday (MARJORIE WASON, '36) is serving as a medical technologist at White Cross Hospital in Columbus.

LILLIAN C. STOCKER, '37, M.S., '39, popular and efficient dietitian at Ohio University's Lindley Hall for five years, is now on the foods supervisory staff at the swanky Park Avenue restaurant of Stouffer Restaurants, Inc. in New York

Seaman James P. Isaacs

ENSIGN CHARLES K. POTTER, '42x, (see picture on page 11), who went down with the U. S. S. Truxtun, off the coast of Newfoundland last spring, ranked 17th in a group of 207 officer candidates who were commissioned with him. On the Truxtun, which was engaged in convoy service to Iceland and other points, Ensign Potter was entrusted with the naval code books and was in charge of the decoding of messages.

JOHN W. "MONK" MONTGOMERY, '40, a popular choice for quarterback on the "Little All-American" team in 1939, was hired as physical education instructor and coach at Nelsonville this fall but before the opening of school resigned the position to accept a similar one at Wellsville. He coached at Groveport last year. Another Ohioan who made a coaching shift this fall was WOODROW E. "WOODY" WILLS, '37, who came from Coshocton to serve under Supt. E. E. Higgins, '25, in Gallipolis.

In the accompanying picture, Classmates Dorothy McBride (left) and Eugenia "Jenny" Thomas (right), aided and abetted by Jean Crawford, the third member of the Band Trio and now a senior, are giving Frank Crummit, '42x, radio and musical comedy star, a lift in the singing of his "Round on the Ends, High in the Middle, O-H-I-O" song for the 1941 Homecoming Day football crowd at Ohio Stadium. Singer McBride is now teaching home economics in the Toronto, Ohio, schools. Singer Thomas is teaching art in the Post Children's School at the Marine Base, Quantico, Va.

BETTY J. WILTSE has completed a course in Camp Fire Administration at New York University's Graduate School at Lake Sebago, N. Y., and is now employed as a field worker at Tottenville, Staten Island, N. Y., by the Staten Island Council of Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

WILLIAM R. MORRIS has a position in Columbus with the Office of Price Administration.

MARY MCGARLY has accepted a position as a reporter on the staff of the Columbus Dispatch. When Sammy Kaye brought his famous "Swing and Sway" band to the Broad Theater in Columbus early in October, Mary was one of four persons who went to the stage and directed the orchestra in Sammy's "So You Want to Lead a Band" stunt. Next day, the Dispatch published a picture of Mary and Sammy standing together at a microphone on the theater stage.

DEAN BAESEL, who enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve in August, is still awaiting a call to attend an officer candidate school.

ERNE KISH, fast-stepping, hard-hitting outfielder (and sometimes second baseman) on baseball teams of recent vintage is now a member of Uncle Sam's Navy. If you want mail to reach Ernest Kish, it's Seaman 2 c, 2nd Division, U.S.S. Leonard Wood, c/o Postmaster, New York, New York.
